

Values @ Home

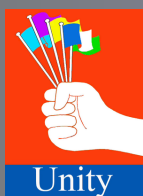

The value for November is Unity! We have been learning that we are much more successful if we work together! This might mean working with a partner, helping your family, working as a class or even as part of Oatlands school.

In assembly we sing lots of songs about working together - here is one of our favourites for you to enjoy at home - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xiygQUPfCGI>

Below is a fun activity you can try at home with your child as a way of thinking about unity.

1. Cut out a large circle from a sheet of paper.
(You can use the rim of a plate as a template to draw the circle and then cut it out).
2. Fold the circle in half three times (in half, into quarters, and then into eighths). You will get a pie-piece shape.
3. Draw out two half-figures as shown. In this example, half a boy is on the left and half a girl is on the right. It is easier to have the heads pointing in towards the centre of the circle and the feet pointing out towards the perimeter.
4. Cut out the figures and unfold. You will find 8 figures holding hands to form a complete circle.
5. On each figure draw or write what unity means to you? For example: Unity is sharing. Unity is listening.
